

Richard Nixon Remains In Critical Condition

LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP) — Former President Richard M. Nixon is in critical condition today after lapsing into shock for three hours and experiencing internal bleeding following surgery for phlebitis.

"The doctors are fighting for that man's life," hospital spokesman Norman Nager told newsmen Tuesday night. He said later he didn't mean the statement to carry the seriousness it denoted.

But a source close to the situation later confided, "I know the doctors are worried" about Nixon's chances of survival.

In a statement read by Nager, Dr. John C. Lungren said a team of physicians administered "countershock measures for three hours until a stable vascular (circulation) condition was once again restored" late Tuesday.

He added, "The patient is still considered critical."

Lungren said Nixon, 61, was under round-the-clock care by a team of specially trained intensive care nurses and that Dr. Eldon B. Hickman, the cardiovascular specialist who performed the operation, would spend the night near Nixon.

Nixon's wife, Pat, was with Nixon after the surgery. A Nixon aide described her as "strained and trying to keep herself up during these difficult times."

Mrs. Nixon was later joined by Nixon's longtime personal secretary, Rose Mary Woods, and the two Nixon daughters, Tricia Nixon Cox and Julie Nixon Eisenhower, who flew in from the East Coast.

Mrs. Nixon and her two daughters remained with the former president until late Tuesday night and then went to the Nixons' seaside villa at San Clemente, 50 miles south of Long Beach, so the former president could have "undisturbed rest," said a Nixon aide.

A White House spokesman sent word that President Ford was praying for Nixon.

Lungren said Nixon's pulse rate had increased and he had a slight fever. He said Nixon was receiving medication intravenously.

Twelve hours earlier, surgeons had attached a plastic clip — resembling a clothespin with teeth — to a vein in Nixon's groin to control a newly discovered blood clot resulting from the phlebitis in his left leg. The jaw-like clip allows blood to flow, but impedes the movement of life-threatening clots to the heart and lungs.

In Memphis, Tenn., Dr. Robert M. Miles, inventor of the surgical clip used in Nixon's operation, said that postoperative hemorrhage is infrequent and patient shock is rare in that type of surgery.

A five-man medical team participated in the hour-long operation which started at 5:30 a.m. Tuesday. After the operation — described as relatively simple — doctors told a news conference that the former chief executive was "doing well."

Hickman, an assistant professor of surgery at the UCLA School of Medicine, called the operation "uneventful" and said, "Mr. Nixon is doing well ..., recovering in the normal manner."

But just over six hours later, Nixon slipped into vascular shock which arrested the circulation of his blood for three hours before doctors and nurses were able to "stabilize" his condition.

Lungren said the complication was probably caused by "some retroperitoneal bleeding secondary to anticoagulation therapy." Retro-peritoneal bleeding means bleeding behind the membrane that surrounds the abdomen.

Earlier, Lungren had said there was "somewhat more risk than normal" to the surgery because Nixon had been taking anticoagulants which left him prone to uncontrolled bleeding. After the surgery, however, Lungren told reporters there had been no excessive bleeding.

Lungren said that when Nixon went into shock "replacement of blood loss (through transfusions) and relaxation of anticoagulation therapy were instituted."

The amount of blood transfused into Nixon was not disclosed, but doctors not connected with Nixon's case said that in situations such as his, massive blood transfusions are normally required.

Nixon's postoperative shock could have been caused by his emotional state — a source close to him said Nixon was depressed. One physician said, "Emotional stress can be a very tearing down thing, and can have its effect on the circulation."

"His vascular system was in bad shape to begin with before the operation," the doctor added, noting that surgery was delayed because of Nixon's weakened physical condition. Nixon re-entered Memorial Hospital Medical Center last Wednesday night after an oral anticoagulant proved ineffective in treating his phlebitis. Nixon was hospitalized for the problem for 12 days in late September and early October.

During that period a small clot broke off from a large clot in his left thigh and traveled through his heart before lodging in his right lung. The decision to allow Nixon to return home came after Lungren concluded the lung clot no longer posed a serious threat.

Mitchell OK'd Liddy Plan

WASHINGTON (AP) — Former Nixon campaign aide Jeb Stuart Magruder told the Watergate cover-up trial today that he volunteered to take the blame for the break-in at Democratic National Committee headquarters but that the idea was rejected by White House aides.

Magruder, former deputy director of Richard M. Nixon's re-election committee, said that one week after the June 17, 1972, break-in he met with former Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell and offered to go to the U.S. attorney's office and say he had authorized the political intelligence plan that led to the burglary.

Asked about Mitchell's reaction, Magruder said, "He didn't accept it or reject it. He said he would discuss it at the White House."

He said Mitchell told him later "they had discussed it at the White House and had rejected it because I was too close to Mr. Mitchell and Mr. Haldeman."

Mitchell and H.R. Haldeman, former White House staff chief, are two of the five defendants charged with conspiring to thwart the investigation.

The other defendants are former White House aide John D. Ehrlichman; former Asst. Atty. Gen. Robert C. Mardian, and Kenneth W. Parkinson, onetime attorney for the Nixon re-election committee.

Magruder, the third prosecution witness, described how Mitchell and other high-level officials first learned of the aborted break-in and said steps were taken quickly to destroy potentially incriminating files and to devise a credible explanation for the money used for political intelligence.

Magruder quoted Mitchell as telling him at a meeting on June 19, 1972, that "I should have a fire in my fireplace" to take care of wiretap information on the Democrats.

"Did you, in fact, have a fire in your fireplace that evening," asked assistant special prosecutor Jill Wine Volner.

"Yes, I did," Magruder replied. "The next morning I told Mr. Mitchell I had destroyed the Gemstone file," Magruder added.

Then he told how it was decided to explain the $250,000 budget for political intelligence gathering.

He said Herbert L. Porter, another campaign committee official, agreed to tell officials that $100,000 was used for protection for surrogates making campaign appearances in Nixon's behalf.

Magruder said he told authorities that the remaining $150,000 was spent for a convention security plan.

Earlier, Magruder had testified that Mitchell approved the intelligence plan, saying, "let's give them the $250,000 and see what they come up with."

Magruder said that before approving the plan, Mitchell twice rejected proposals from G. Gordon Liddy that called for break-ins, wiretapping, kidnapping of demonstration leaders and using prostitutes to compromise Democrats.

He described Mitchell's reaction to Liddy's initial $1 million proposal as "very negative."

Liddy came back with a $500,000 plan and, once again, Mitchell rejected it. But, according to Magruder, Mitchell approved the plan after it was scaled down to $250,000.

Democratic headquarters in the Watergate office building were entered on Memorial Day weekend 1972. Documents were photographed and bugs planted on telephones.

A few days later, Magruder said, "I received two packages from Mr. Liddy ... Each package contained synopsis of telephone conversations at Democratic National Committee headquarters and photographs of documents."

He took them home and read them "and I realized they were of little value."

Liddy was summoned to Mitchell's office, said Magruder, and the material was shown to the former attorney general.

Mitchell was "dissatisfied with the product Liddy was producing from wiretaps and photographs," Magruder said.

He quoted Liddy as explaining "with some embarrassment, that one of the bugs was not working and one was on the wrong phone."

He said Liddy promised "to correct the problem."

Was the problem corrected? "We learned on the morning of June 17, that Liddy had not corrected the problem, but created a problem," replied Magruder.

That was the morning that five men were arrested inside Democratic party headquarters.

Before Magruder testified, the trial heard E. Howard Hunt Jr., one of the men convicted of conspiring to commit the Watergate burglary, assert that his demands for money in March 1973 were not meant as blackmail but as requests for what he felt was due to him.

Hunt had demanded $132,000 for legal fees and living expenses in a message sent in March 1973 to then-White House counsel John W. Dean III.

Hunt described the demand as "being as forceful as I could in an attempt to collect long overdue bills." During two days on the witness stand, Hunt admitted repeatedly lying to a grand jury.

Asked for his motive, the former CIA agent and author of 50 books, nearly all of them spy novels, said, "I felt that by protecting others who were still in positions of power I could hopefully affect the length of my sentence."

It didn't work, and after reading the transcripts of the White House tapes in which then-President Nixon described the Watergate break-in defendants as "idiots" and "jackasses," Hunt said he decided to tell the truth.

Board Of Health Praises Nurses For TB Testing

Health nurses Carlene Francis and Linda Davis were commended for their efforts in uncovering four active cases of tuberculosis in the county by the Pickaway County Board of Health in its regular meeting Tuesday.

Their efforts, authorized by Health Commissioner Dr. Frank Moore, ignored an Ohio Department of Health request to discontinue the skin testing program due to a lack of active TB cases in the county.

During September and October, they performed 464 skin tests on student and cook food handlers in 31 visits to county schools. Besides the four active cases, they discovered and treated 15 persons for positive reactions to the tests.

Drugs used for treatment were given by the ODH, but drugs used for testing were paid for by the local TB Fund.

In other nursing service matters, the board of health agreed to purchase an ice chest for transportation of medicine for school visits and will study a request to purchase a trash tray for use in the health department offices.

Board members also wanted more information on a specialized program for health nurses discussed briefly Tuesday.

The program, Pediatric Nurse Associate (PNA), is a highly specialized training that qualifies health nurses to evaluate growth and development of children to the age of 21. The state subsidizes for services rendered by PNA.

County environmentalist Hugh Barnhill told the board that William Barthlemas, owner of the county's sanitary landfill, is in "reasonable compliance with Ohio Solid Waste Laws."

Barnhill, who said that a trenching program to bury the waste appeared to be successful, was asked by the board to maintain weekly inspections of the landfill.

The board also discussed legal procedures of regulating the landfill operation prepared by County Prosecutor Richard Gerhardt.

A request by Ross and Fayette County Health Departments for refuse hauler fee reciprocity was tabled for further study.

GRAFFITI
3 KINDS OF TRAFFIC PROBLEMS: URBAN, SUBURBAN, BOURBON

The adjacent counties wanted to permit refuse haulers, septic cleaners, and other counties, to perform work without having to purchase another license.

The Health Department was asked to keep a record of the number of water samples collected at foster homes for the Franklin and Pickaway County Welfare Departments. Possibility of implementation of a small fee for the work was reason for the study.

In personnel actions, the board of health made Leo Kahanek a permanent employee as department supervisor. He had been on temporary status since he began work six months ago.

R. Thoburn Blaney, county sanitarian, also asked the board to withdraw his retirement agreement which was to become effective Jan. 1, 1975.

Second readings were held on proposed departmental regulations regarding fee increases for health department services, the implementation of fees for other services and the implementation of swimming pool guidelines.

Following the meeting, Board members met to discuss the proposed city - county contract for health services.

Arabs Promise $2 Billion To Israel's Enemy Neighbors

RABAT, Morocco (AP) — The Arab summit conference has ended with a pledge of more than $2 billion a year in oil money to Israel's enemy neighbors: Egypt, Syria, Jordan and the guerrillas of the Palestine Liberation Organization.

The four-day conference's other major action was the recognition of the PLO as the government of a future independent Palestinian state on the West Bank of the Jordan River, occupied by Israel since the 1967 war.

Priest Slain By Bandits In Rectory

PATERSON, N.J. (AP) — A parishioner who was talking with an elderly priest on the telephone listened in horror as he suddenly cried out, "Oh my God: They're killing me."

Police rushed to the rectory of St. Boniface Roman Catholic Church on Tuesday and found the body of Father Francis A. English, 70. Officers said he had been tied and gagged and then beaten to death.

Police said they are seeking four men, three who were seen running from the rectory and a fourth who was behind the wheel of a car in which all four fled the scene.

Officers said the killers escaped with an undetermined amount of money in bingo receipts, overlooking $2,500 in cash that had been locked in a cabinet of the rectory.

"He apparently wouldn't tell where the money was, so he was beaten," a Paterson detective said.

Helen Stankiewicz told police she was speaking to Father English on the phone when his assailants apparently entered the room.

She said the priest cried out and then the telephone was slammed down.

The church, in a rundown area of this northern New Jersey industrial city, once served a largely German parish. In recent years the neighborhood has become mainly Hispanic, although Father English continued to say one mass each Sunday in German.

The decision was another big boost in prestige for the PLO and its chief, Yasser Arafat. But Israeli Information Minister Aharon Yariv said the Jewish state would not hand over the territory to the guerrillas.

Conference sources said Egypt and Syria will each get $1 billion a year of the "confrontation" funds for the next four years; Jordan will get $300 million, and the PLO was allotted $50 million.

In addition, a single payment of $150 million will be made to South Yemen for a 99-year lease on its Perim island, commanding the Bab al Mandab strait at the southern end of the Red Sea. All shipping to and from Elat, Israel's southern port, must pass through the strait, and Egypt, Saudi Arabia and Abu Dhabi are reported stationing naval forces there.

Conference sources said Saudi Arabia, Kuwait, Qatar and the United Arab Emirates would be the chief contributors. It was the first time the Arab oil countries agreed on concerted financial support for the campaign against Israel.

Israel's refusal to agree to a future PLO government on the West Bank appeared to freeze the Israeli occupation of the former Jordanian territory indefinitely and to promise future intensification of the Arab guerrilla campaign against Israel.

But the conference left Presidents Anwar Sadat of Egypt and Hafez Assad of Syria free to continue bilateral peace negotiations with Israel using Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger as their intermediary.

Martha Mitchell Seeks More Cash

NEW YORK (AP) — Martha Mitchell still figures she can't get by comfortably on the $1,000-a-week temporary alimony she was awarded as a prelude to her separation suit against former U.S. Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell. Tuesday she asked to renew her original claim for $3,000-a-week.

Manhattan Supreme Court Justice Manuel Gomez agreed to hear a re-argument of her claim later this week. He originally pared down Mrs. Mitchell's $3,000 figure to $1,000.

Medical 'Shock' Means Collapse Of Circulation

NEW YORK (AP) — Medical "shock," the condition into which former President Richard M. Nixon lapsed after his phlebitis operation, means a collapse of blood circulation.

A simple cut on the hand, or even getting a vaccination shot, can cause some people to go into mild shock. They become woozy or even faint.

Emotional states can affect blood circulation, which is one reason for showing pallor or feeling faint.

Nixon's postoperative shock may have been complicated by his reluctance to seek early treatment for his phlebitis, or vein condition, or his own emotional reaction to the Watergate scandal that led to his resignation, one physician says.

Small arteries, called arterioles, dilate, or expand, thereby losing ability to contract normally to push freshened blood to all parts of the body, including the heart and brain.

Shock can result from accidental injuries, excessive bleeding, excessive manipulation of organs during surgery, or operations on the vascular system. The venous, or vein system, is particularly sensitive to manipulation surgically. Nixon had a major vein clamped mostly shut.

Further, he apparently had a very extensive series of clots throughout much of his left leg, a pre-existing interference with venous blood return to the heart.

One physician, asked for an opinion about the Nixon case, said, "He was reported not to have been in very good physical condition the night before, and the operation was therefore delayed. But the operation was apparently deemed necessary to avoid life-threatening trouble if a major clot broke loose" and went from the leg to the lungs.

Treatment of Nixon's kind of shock usually involves giving massive blood transfusions. Normally, the human body has about five quarts of circulating blood. But if arteries relax, and don't push the flow along with normal pressure, more blood is needed to fill up the system so that weakened artery contractions can still do the job. From seven to nine quarts of blood may be needed in the pipelines.

Certain drugs that make arterioles constrict to more normal size are also useful.

Assembly Session Eyed By Solons

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A special committee of legislators probably will decide today whether Ohio's General Assembly should reconvene this year for action on a bill to boost Ohio's troubled housing industry.

Rep. Frederick N. Young, R-38 Dayton, said Tuesday "I expect we will hear any additional testimony, and then confer among ourselves as to whether there should be a legislative session." He declined to make a prediction, but said he thinks at least some committee members want a full session.

The committee of house members and senators was given by legislative leaders the task of determining if the lawmakers, who technically are in recess, should return to complete action on a measure creating a state housing finance agency.

It was approved by the house, but left pending in the Senate Rules Committee when the legislature ended working sessions last summer. Since that time, high interest rates and growing unemployment in the housing construction industry have combined to create an acute problem in Ohio.

Gov. John J. Gilligan and a committee of industry, labor, and lending institution representatives have recommended the legislative session. The pending bill apparently would enable the state to move ahead with a plan to issue bonds and guarantee low interest loans to get capital into the sagging housing market.

Young's committee, at its first meeting last week, heard testimony supporting the need for state legislation from the Columbus regional office of the U.S. Department of Housing & Urban Development, among others.

Gilligan's ad hoc committee, in addition to calling for passage of the pending bill, also urged that the state prepare for staffing of the new agency and take whatever other steps are possible to get its work under way as soon as possible.

Ask Federal Aid Against Brucellosis

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio and other states need federal aid if they are to eliminate brucellosis, a bacterial disease which affects livestock, Gene R. Abercrombie, director of the state Department of Agriculture, said Tuesday.

Abercrombie said chief veterinarians from all 50 states requested the federal funding last week.

He said he is concerned that Ohio may lose federal aid to help fight the disease since it has been certified free of brucellosis since 1972.

The bacteria causes fever in humans as well as infecting hogs and cattle, Abercrombie said. New outbreaks of the disease could cause devastating financial loss to Ohio farmers, he added.

state action include industry unemployment of 14 per cent on the average and up to 30 per cent in some areas, along with others that show Ohio with nearly 45 per cent fewer housing starts this year compared to last year.

Bond Set On Gaul

Bond was set this morning in Pickaway County Common Pleas Court on the three cases against Dennis Edward Gaul. Gaul, originally from the Cleveland area, was apprehended by the FBI Tuesday in Cleveland. He was returned to Circleville in the afternoon and appeared today before acting common pleas judge Guy G. Cline.

Cline set bond at $15,000 each on breaking and entering and grand theft charges against Gaul and at $25,000 on an escape charge. The first two counts were filed against Gaul after a break in at the local Super X Drug Store. The escape charge was filed when he escaped from Municipal Court while there on the other charges.

The court also heard two other cases during the morning session. Representing the State of Ohio from the county prosecutor's office was assistant to the prosecuting attorney, James R. Kingsley.

Ronald Walsh, 322 Mingo St., appeared on seven counts of passing bad checks and the prosecution proceeded on four of the counts after negotiations with the defendant. Walsh entered guilty pleas on four of the charges of fourth degree felonies and the prosecutor's office agreed to the dismissal of the other three counts.

Judge Cline sentenced Walsh to four terms of two to five years each to the Ohio State Penitentiary. The court also ordered the four terms to run concurrently.

Coming before the court today on a bill of information was William Edward Climer Jr. Climer entered a guilty plea to grand theft of a John Deer tractor and waived his rights. The court ordered a pre-sentence report to be prepared by the adult parole authority.

A motion for shock probation filed by William Darling was scheduled for hearing but was reassigned for hearing at a later time. Darling was released on his own recognizance bond to appear again when ordered.

Cancer Data Compiled

DULUTH, Minn. (AP) — A study by the Minnesota Department of Health shows the incidence of gastrointestinal cancer is no higher in Duluth than in Minneapolis-St. Paul, despite the presence of asbestos fibers in Duluth's drinking water, the department said Tuesday.

The study is important because it bears on possible health hazards posed by the Reserve Mining Co. of Silver Bay, Minn. The states of Minnesota, Wisconsin and Michigan have sought court action to force Reserve to stop dumping taconite tailings into Lake Superior, citing a possible cancer hazard.

Reserve is owned by two Ohio steel companies, Armco of Middletown and Republic of Cleveland.

NURSERY PROVIDED

Dear Abby:

By Abigail Van Buren

Is Nursing "Disgusting?"

DEAR ABBY: I'm sure you won't print this, but I want to get it off my chest so I'll send it in anyway.

Recently I was watching Hollywood Squares, and one of the questions was: "According to Dear Abby, is it proper for a mother to nurse her baby in mixed company?" And they said that you said, "No. It's disgusting!"

I couldn't believe my ears. I always thought you were broad-minded. How could you have given an answer like that, Abby?

DISAPPOINTED

DEAR DIS: I didn't. I was asked what I thought of a young mother who used nursing her baby as an excuse to show off her bosom in mixed company. And to THAT I replied, "I think she's disgusting!"

DEAR ABBY: Texas Mother wrote to ask, "How do you tell a 36-year-old daughter to please sit up straight?"

You replied, "Apparently your daughter tuned you out years ago. But if you ever succeed in getting a 36-year-old daughter to listen to her mother please tell me your secret. A few million readers would appreciate it."

Abby, I have a lovely, mature, intelligent 35-year-old daughter who listens to me, and I can tell your readers what the secret is. I listen to HER!

We are good friends who enjoy each other, respect each other, and listen to each other. And now I am listening to my granddaughter, too.

MRS. M.H.

DEAR MRS. H.: What you are saying is that the secret of getting your children to listen to you is to listen to THEM. True, but this works only if you start listening to your children when they are very young. The advice is splendid for parents of infants, but it's about 32 years too late for Texas Mother.

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I and our 13-year-old son, Rob, live in a little dinky apartment. For some strange reason Rob's friends always congregate here. Sometimes as many as ten kids crowd into his bedroom, and even with the door closed there's so much laughing and shouting I can't hear myself think.

I try to keep the cookie jar filled, but those kids clean me out in no time. I can't afford bottled drinks, so I make lemonade by the gallon, and in winter it's hot chocolate.

Some of those kids live in palaces compared to this dump, but they never have the gang at their place. I don't think that's fair. Why don't they take turns and let the other mothers have the noise and free snack bar once in awhile?

Print this. They might see it and take the hint.

ROB'S MA

DEAR MA: You don't know how lucky you are. If you could see some of the letters I get from mothers who sob, "My kids don't have any friends," you'd get down on your knees and thank the good Lord for the empty cookie jar.

Kids like to gather where they feel comfortable, which is a compliment to you, and Rob. Isn't it a good feeling to know where your son is all the time? You should be grateful, not grumbling.

DEAR ABBY: A while ago you had a "confidential to Virgo" to the effect that to correct a person who has mispronounced a word is cruel when done in the presence of others. I agree.

What about the mispronunciation of names? I have an uncommon name, and when someone mispronounces it and this happens frequently always correct that person politely but immediately, even if it must be done in the presence of others (which, fortunately, is usually the situation.)

UNCOMMON NAME

DEAR UNCOMMON: That's the exception.

DEAR ABBY: I am getting sick of all that sex in your column lately. Please clean it up, Abby, or you are going to lose me.

J.C. OF PALESTINE, TEX.

DEAR J.C. OF PALESTINE: (Are you kidding?) Sorry, but lately every other letter that lands on my desk has a sex problem. And since mine is a problem column, and these are the problems, I have to call 'em like I see 'em.

Everyone has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply, write to ABBY: Box No. 69700, L.A., Calif. 90069. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

A Page Of Opinion

Night Of Witchery

Halloween, perhaps third only to Thanksgiving and Christmas as the most festive of holidays, is once again upon us, the season of goblins, black cats, witches, lighted pumpkins and cider.

Halloween has long been an occasion for merrymaking of the most spooky sort. The specter of haunted houses, ghosts and the supernatural has long tantalized the young in spirit, and Halloween provides the opportunity to burst forth into the night to meet all manner of beings.

That it is primarily meant for the energies of youth cannot be denied, particularly with the involvement of colorfully weird costumes and paper bags eagerly held out for the fruits of trick or treat.

Parent and grandparent generations have more recently found Halloween to be an excellent excuse, if one were needed, for gatherings of friends and relatives, and thus they also are showing greater interest in the occasion.

Halloween Evening, the night before All Saints' Day, dates back many centuries, although its exact inception is somewhat hazy. It would be a shame if its demise should come about because of lack of parental control in the twentieth century.

There are many communities—those in which vandalism has been particularly rampant—which actually anticipate Halloween with dread, and instead of planning festive occasions to mark the event, actually inaugurate a modified form of martial law with curfews, reinforced police patrols and vigilante-type deputies.

Whether children, and adults, of the future will be able to enjoy the pleasures which appear only with the Halloween season will depend upon the attitude of today's Halloweeners. Are a few seconds of mischievous fun or vandalism worth the price of Halloween's death?

The Cruellest Animal

ON THE LINE
By BOB CONSIDINE

NEW YORK — New York's first zoo seems to have been a bear pit dug in Prospect Park, Brooklyn, shortly after the Civil War. Now there are six zoos in the city. The cost of imprisoning the poor creatures runs to about $3,500,000 a year, or about half of the sum the U.S. coughed up for Alaska, about the same time the bear was dumped in his Brooklyn hole.

Zoos of course, are almost as old as the cruellest of all animals, man. Emperor Wen of the Chou dynasty maintained one in the 12th century B.C. Nebuchadnezzar kept lions; Solomon, in all his glory and wisdom, detained monkey and peacocks. Aristotle asked some of Alexander's officers and men to bring him home some live and exotic animals. Octavius Augustus was pleased to announce, 29 years before the birth of Christ, that he had assembled a menagerie of 420 tigers, 260 lions, 36 crocodiles, and a random assortment of panthers, cheetahs, elephants, eagles, bears, and even a rhino and a hippo.

So zoos, schmooos... they generally aren't news, unless it's a case of the Giant Pandas that Chou En-lai sent to the National Zoo in Washington in exchange for a couple of our wart-hogs, or something; or the gorilla family altercation that resulted in the breaking of the arm of the Central Park Zoo's infant Patty Cake.

However, what is indeed news is that for the first time in a long time there has been raised not only a hue but a cry about the conditions to which the captive and captivity-born animals are subjected in the New York zoos. The voice crying in the wilderness is that of a young zoo attendant named Raymond T. Fitzgerald, a keeper at the same zoo where the bear of old was trapped. The other day he locked himself in a room in the monkey house and used the phone to inform the media that zoo animals there and in general were dying left and right for want of proper care.

This was the bald truth. But Fitzgerald was hustled off to a hospital for "observation" and suspended from his $8,000-a-year job, although he made a most lucid case. His zoo and others have too many animals crowded into too little space, and not enough veterinarians interested in caring for them when they become ill. Or begin dying of sheer ennui of their life terms.

Cleveland Amory, animals' best friend and most fearless champion, organized a picket line and pamphlet-distributing group at the Central Park Zoo not too long ago. Zoo officials didn't even notice it for a month or two, then wondered why there should be so much commotion. The commotion centered on the fact that zoos by and large are operated today with all the insensitivity and neglect that prevailed in this country a century ago.

There has been such less zoo expertise revealed than even human prison reform, which is further aggravated by the fact that none of the animals ever was convicted of a crime.

Amory explodes against anti-animal freaks as eloquently as he puts down incompetent or inhuman zoo curators. As founder and director of "The Fund for Animals, Inc." this gifted reporter recently commented in a pamphlet on the deaths of two New York City Zoo favorites: "Skandy," the gentle Central Park Zoo's polar bear, was shot and killed. He had been tormented by a man who had already been warned away from other cages. When the man stuck his arm into the cage, Skandy grabbed it. A policeman came up and shot Skandy dead. "Cop Shoots Vicious Bear", read the headlines in one newspaper. The headline was wrong, the cop was wrong, the man was wrong and the zoo was wrong.

"... In Prospect Park Zoo a gang of youths got into the deer cage and beat to death with a leather belt and heavy buckle a three-year-old European fallow deer. The deer had been about to give birth."

Amory's new book, "Man Kind?" (published by Harper & Row), is the definitive diatribe against zoos and the most articulate description of man's eternal war against creatures we describe as "wild." There are more muggings in Central Park each night than among the "savage untamed" in its zoo.

Helen Gurley Brown, editor of Cosmopolitan magazine, dropped a note to her friend Cass Canfield, of Harper & Row, when Amory's book appeared last week. It read, "I don't give 'quotes' — even for friends. But for this book, I have to. It made me laugh and it made me cry and it made me mad."

If you are the keeper of a cat, dog, parrot, goldfish or lemming, the chances are that you'll agree.

Housing Director Under Fire

MIDDLETOWN, Ohio (AP)— Middletown Municipal Court Judge J. T. Lamb has held the director of local metropolitan housing responsible for deteriorating conditions in two housing projects.

Lamb gave J. Ross Hunt, the director, 30 days to comply with city-ordered remedies or face two fines of $50.

Hunt argued unsuccessfully Tuesday that the housing authority is subject to guidelines and funds provided by the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development.

The court ordered the empty 52-unit Midtown Village complex boarded up. The city building department brought the action in May. The complex has been a source of vandalism and fires, officials charged.

The complex, purchased by the authority in 1972, has remained unoccupied, the city said. Federal funds for remodeling were not immediately released.

Hunt said all but two windows have been boarded up to comply with city orders. He also said remodeling work has begun and completion is expected in March, 1975.

The court also ordered Hunt to eliminate an insect infestation problem at another new housing complex, Freedom Court.

1-Armed Man Saves Toddler

MIDDLETOWN, Ohio (AP)— A one-armed man caught a 2-year-old child who plunged from a porch roof of her home Tuesday evening, saving her from certain injury on a concrete walk, according to police.

Mary Ellen Rose, daughter of Mrs. Rita Rose, climbed out a bedroom window to retrieve her baby bottle.

Clyde Mullins, 29, a neighbor, saw the girl start to fall and ran into the yard in time to catch her with his one good arm.

Patrolman Bill Becker, who saw the incident, said the child fell more than 15 feet.

Letters To The Editor

EDITOR'S NOTE: While The Herald encourages open comments from its readers, the opinions expressed are not necessarily those of the management. Letters to the editor must be signed and should be of 300 words or less.

Dear Editor:

It is about that time of year again when the little ones are looking forward to an evening of dressing up in funny clothes and going door to door for an evening of fun and excitement.

My husband and I own a day care center and kindergarten in Duvall. One of our responsibilities again this year will be to tell the kids to have a happy evening but:

- Don't talk to strangers.
- Don't take a bite of any homemade candy.
- Don't take a bite of any homemade cookies.
- Don't take a bite of any apple, pear or fruit that might have a razor blade or pin in it.
- Don't take a bite of your pop corn until mom or dad checks it.
- Do be sure you are only out from 7 until 8 p.m.

It is really sad, isn't it, and yet they tell me that years ago here in Central Ohio children actually went out three nights a week without fear of any harm. I am not for going out three nights a week but I believe in the rights of these little people. After all we were young once and why shouldn't these kids be carefree a little longer? I wish that this trick or treat evening we could recall the happy days of our childhood and give our boys and girls a safe and fun Halloween.

Happy Halloweening

Speaking Of Your Health

by Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

I had 30 acupuncture treatments and spent all of my life's savings trying to cure my migraine headaches. All I got out of this was an empty bank account.

Mr. E.E.M., Mo.

Dear Mr. M.:

It sounds as if the headache you now have is greater than the one you started with.

I don't mean to be harsh, but I must ask you pushed you into this form of treatment for migraine? I doubt that it was your own doctor.

I have heard your story from dozens of my readers who have fallen into the trap of running in any direction in their anxiety to find a rapid, unconventional approach to their health problem.

I am completely sympathetic with those who are impatient to find relief through orthodox forms of treatment. Physicians now seem to have more faith in the possibilities of acupuncture for the treatment of medical problems.

Unfortunately, there has been a "gold needle rush" by inadequately trained people who indiscriminately give "series of punctures" to anyone who requests them for any body condition.

There has been a proliferation of acupuncture centers to which people rush in droves for the magical cures they expect.

Some states, recognizing the inadequacy of the commercially active acupuncture centers, have clamped down on them and have legally prevented them from continuing to function.

These questionable centers then seek, and often find, refuge in other states whose medical requirements are less rigid.

Acupuncture is being studied at the National Institutes of Health in Bethesda, Maryland.

Acupuncture is being carefully evaluated by highly trained scientists, with well-controlled cases.

Acupuncture is recognized as having great possibilities in a wide variety of problems.

BUT acupuncture should be undertaken only at reputable centers and when referred by physicians who themselves have evaluated the reliability of these therapeutic centers.

Unless the American people slow their headlong rush into acupuncture, its potential value may be undermined.

On The Ropes

By JIM BISHOP

Professional fighters are beset by fear; they are afraid to fight. They constitute so many pounds of mobile meat with eyeballs like $ signs. As a group—there are exceptions—they are witless slob who are trained like dancing bears.

A few had intelligence: Gene Tunney and Tommy Loughran come to mind. Years ago, when Cassius Clay told me that he talks incessantly and brags "because I'm too pretty to be hurt," I believed him. I still do.

With the exception of the work of a few independent fight promoters, such as Chris Dundee, boxing in America is a mockery. Millions of suckers pay scores of millions to watch two diffused shadows on a screen parry and pant, punch and pedal.

Clay's skill remains peerless. No one can get farther away from the other man with better coordination. Nor can I recall anyone harder to hit, unless you remember Benny Leonard.

Fight fans are hostile. They pay to expel antagonism by roaring their joy as a helpless gladiator sags, head bouncing like a rag doll under a torrent of lefts and rights, and sinks to the cool dark painless world of unconsciousness.

The gymnasiums reek of old liniment and cigar butts as youngsters skip rope, tap the light bag, and don headgear and brown pillows to go a few rounds with anyone who has a busted nose and is over the hill. They have visions of Rolls-Royces and scented broads and thick steaks.

A few—a precious few—make it. Kids call them "Champ." In time, even the best become brittle, battered bodies with ears that ring with an interminable noise, and minds which wander a crooked path.

Not all. Not all. Some, like Joe Louis, hit something the sportswriters call "the comeback trail." I sat in Madison Square Garden and shook my head in sorrow as I saw him hit, hit again by Rocky Marciano, and fall face down on the canvas and roll outside the ropes.

Later, I played some golf with Marciano and Bernard Castro. "You

More Suits Filed

Over Blue Ash Plan

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP)—Opponents of suburban Blue Ash's plans to combine police and fire departments have filed two more suits in Hamilton County Common Pleas Court.

The suits, filed by Dorothy Wilder, wife of police Lt. Paul Wilder, ask removal of city Solicitor Robert T. McConaughy and Police Chief E. R. Sturgill.

The suits claim McConaughy forfeited his office by signing the ordinance Oct. 10 as both solicitor and acting clerk of council.

see," Rocky said, "he didn't know he was my hero when I was growing up in Brockton. The writers said I flattened him and turned my back. They didn't know I was crying."

I was hired by the Mutual Broadcasting System to do the between-the-rounds color story of the Liston-Clay fight at Lewiston, Maine. The only smart people that night were the natives, who stood on a hill outside the arena.

Liston had all the character of a mongrel, but he could hit. Clay, running backwards, caught him with a faint flicking right which might, under the right circumstances, rupture a mosquito. Liston gave it a moment of consideration and fell on his face.

He was four feet from my microphone. The referee lost his mind and ran to the far side of the ring to pick up the count from the timekeeper. Liston, hearing no audible, rolled over on his back and looked up to find out what the hell happened to the referee.

It was a credit to the game. Like the Quarry brothers. They bled if you stare at them. I am not one of those ah-for-the-good-old-days guys, but if you could have seen a mountainous knucklehead like Luis "Angel" Firpo, who hung his left arm in the dressing room, belt Jack Dempsey so hard that his feet came off the floor and slapped down to create a cloud of talcum, then you saw something beyond credence.

And if you had seen Dempsey come up off the typewriter outside the ring, desperate and deadly, to chase Firpo with the hardest two-handed slugging of all time, to stand panting and wild-eyed over his victim, you would understand why it was called "the fight when nobody sat."

Tony Zale, Canzoneri, Mickey Walker, McLarnin, Willie Pep—they were animals who loved to fight. Harry Wills couldn't get a shot at the world heavyweight title because he was black. Today, white fighters can't get a shot at it because they aren't worthy.

Jack Sharkey took Primo Carnera on because Carnera was an innocent freak. The only way the Boston Bully could reach his head was to back the giant against the ropes, hold him steady with a left hand, then reach to the floor and come up straight and hard.

When the punch landed on Carnera's chin, Sharkey stepped aside to avoid being killed and didn't even holler "timber!" as the body fell.

The best? My choice would be Harry Greb of Philadelphia. He trained on good booze and bad women. But he was a boxer and a slugger and he had an instinct, not to hurt, but to kill. After he died, the coroner found out that Greb had a glass eye.

Foreman? Clay? The only thing millionaires have to fear is fear itself

Vanik Has No-Cash Campaign

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Rep. Charles A. Vanik, D-Ohio, has found he has to spend money to avoid spending money in his campaign for re-election to Congress.

Vanik, seeking his 11th consecutive term, said early this year he would not accept contributions or spend money in his campaign.

He has clung to his promise not to accept contributions, but a legislative aide said the congressman has had to spend some money. There was a $50 filing fee required by Ohio law and "then there has been postage for returning checks that have been sent in voluntarily," an aide said.

The aide said checks returned so far have totaled about $2,000, with postage amounting to more than $10.

"We have no idea of the total amount turned down," the aide said, "because many people have called by telephone offering contributions without mentioning an amount. But, we have turned them down."

In announcing his no-spending plan, Vanik said he would not spend money on advertising, signs or other campaign paraphernalia, but would rely on personal contact with the voters.

Vanik said Watergate had made it necessary for those in government to take action to "redeem the confidence of the people in their government."

Refusing contributions is one way, he said.

"Money contaminates the political process," said Vanik. "Even small contributors can lay their claim to rewards of discretion and favors dispensed to those who help."

Vanik, 61, said his action was also designed to force his colleagues on the House Ways and Means Committee to refuse contributions from special interests.

He described his project as "a good precedent to set a trend among incumbents."

While many candidates obviously will have to spend money, he said, "we should do more to minimize expenditures."

Vanik defeated two primary opponents easily last May and is a strong favorite against Republican William J. Franz of Cleveland Heights in the Nov. 5 election.

Vanik was elected to Congress from the 21st District in 1954 and was re-elected six times there. After district lines were redrawn he ran and won in the 22nd District in 1968, defeating Republican incumbent, Frances P. Bolton.

Vanik said his average cost in the 21st District was about $3,500 each

Veal Use Rise Seen

WASHINGTON (AP) — Per capita veal consumption is expected to rise this year for the first time in a decade, reflecting a higher rate of calf slaughter, according to Agriculture Department projections.

For all of 1974, per capita veal consumption is expected to average about 2.1 pounds, up from 1.8 pounds last year, USDA says.

According to department records, that would be the first increase since the per capita rate rose to 5.2 pounds in 1964 from 4.9 the year before.

Calf slaughter soared last summer up from a year earlier in July by 42 per cent and in August by 60 per cent. Officials say September calf slaughter probably was up 45 per cent from a year earlier.

'Spirit Of Consciousness' Monday Club Program Topic

Monday Club met Oct. 28th, in the meeting room of the Historical Society Museum with the president, Mrs. Frank Estes, in charge. An interesting and informative report of the recent meeting of the Fall Conference, OFWC of the Central Ohio River District, was read by Mrs. William Cox. On display and for sale were articles made by the blind and the 1975 Ohioana calendars. Both are annual projects of the Monday Club.

The paper for the evening was presented by Mrs. Walter Hall, who selected for her topic "Spirit Of Consciousness." In her opening sentence she stated "The author of Uncle Tom's Cabin came to the White House, and President Lincoln, as she related it, strode toward her with two outstretched hands and greeted, 'So you're the little woman who wrote the book that made this great war' as they seated themselves at the fireplace. Mrs. Hall went on to say in some ways, this presents an inaccurate picture for by no means was Mrs. Stowe responsible for the War between the States. Yet it cannot be denied that Uncle Tom's Cabin was a moral battle cry and an appeal to the conscience of all free men to look upon bondage as a crime. It was a natural response to the needs and purposes of a particular age.

Harriet Beecher was a product of her own age, devoutly religious and imbued with the protestant ethics, imaginative and incorrigibly romantic. She was born into a family of high achievers, her father, Lyman, and her brother, Henry Ward, were renowned Congregational Church preachers. Her sister Catherine's accomplishments make a Johnny-come-lately of the Women's Lib movement. She was no starry-eyed youngster when she married Calvin Stowe, the widower of a close friend.

Ohio may fairly claim Mrs. Stowe as its own, for it was while at Lane Theological Seminary in Cincinnati between 1832 and 1850 that she gained firsthand knowledge of the plight of the bondsman. She saw with her own eyes the slave markets and heard from trusted friends the stories of hazardous escapes across the Ohio River from Kentucky and of the operation of the Underground Railroad stations, though they were not then formalized by such a name. She felt pity, indignation, and distress for the slave and hoped to stir her readers' sympathies with her writing. Its unprecedented success was hard to grasp at first. Harriet Beecher Stowe became the second best known American over the world, next only to Lincoln.

Mrs. Hall said most conscience writing finds its first outlet through periodicals. While some of these people write with suffocating boredom, they called attention to many serious ills in our society. Lincoln Steffens concentrated on crooked politics among city officials, Ida Tarbell in 1904 wrote "The History Of Standard Oil Company" and influenced Rockefeller to turn to philanthropic pursuits. Upton Sinclair centered on the meat packing industry in "The Jungle" and went on to write the "Lanny Budd Series." McClure's Magazine published many of these earnest writers and gave them respectability. In more recent times Rachel Carson called attention to the dangers of pesticides in "Silent Spring." While Martin Luther King's six books are not widely read, it must be acknowledged that he pricked America's conscience about racial equality in many areas and provided the impetus for a broad movement for minority rights.

In conclusion Mrs. Hall said "Harriet Beecher Stowe wrote to the conscience of America," and quoted directly the final words of "Uncle Tom's Cabin": "A day of grace is yet held out to us. Both the north and south have been guilty before God and the Christian church has a heavy account to answer. Not by combining together, to protect injustice and cruelty, and making common capital of sin, it is the Union to be saved — but by repentance, justice, and mercy; for, nor surer is the eternal law, by which the millstone sinks in the ocean, than that stronger law, by which injustice and cruelty shall bring on nations the wrath of Almighty God."

BEN F. BRIAN JR.

His career with the company later took him to Old Hickory, Tenn. as an engineer and still later as an engineer in the textile fibers plant at Waynesboro, Va.

Transferring back to the Old Hickory film facility, Brian was assigned as an engineer in the technical section. He was then assigned as a manufacturing foreman and subsequently promoted to the position of shift supervisor in cellophane production.

On Jan. 1, 1961, Brian was transferred to the Circleville Mylar plant as a supervisor and later promoted to assistant departmental supervisor. He was assigned the position of area supervisor of the Kapton plant on Jan. 11, 1966 and transferred to the employe relations section of the local plant in August, 1972.

Brian and his wife Betty live at 5 Cambridge Place in Knollwood Village. They are the parents of three children, Debbie, Cheryl and Ben. The family belongs to the Community Methodist Church where Brian is chairman of the Committee on Finance.

Other community activities in which Brian was involved have included being a member of the board of management and chairman of the finance committee for the local YM-CA, past Pickaway County District Chairman of Boy Scouts of America and past campaign chairman and president of Pickaway County Community Fund.

He is currently serving as the trustee of the South Central Regional Detention Center and as first vice-president and member of the Circleville Rotary Club.

Brian attended Southwestern Louisiana Institute and the United States Military Academy. He graduated from the Georgia Institute of Technology with a bachelor of mechanical engineering degree and later earned his masters degree.

School District Audit Rule Fought

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A copy of an audit report of the Kenton school district indicates that the state auditor made an exception in 1971 to a declared policy against the release of any findings within 30 days before an election.

State Rep. Rodney Hughes, R-78, Bellefontaine, showed Auditor Joseph Ferguson on Tuesday a copy of a financial cash analysis of the Kenton district in Hardin County, dated as approved on April 30, 1971 and May 3, 1971. There was a primary election in Kenton on May 4, 1971.

Hughes contended that the document proved that Ferguson's policy against releasing audit findings in the 30 days prior to an election was "a bunch of baloney."

The Bellefontaine and Warren school districts have sued in the 10th District Court of Appeals here in an effort to force Ferguson to release the findings of audits in their districts.

Voters in Bellefontaine face a 5.6 mill additional tax levy on Nov. 5, while a 6.8 mill levy is on the ballot in Warren.

Deputy Auditor John A. Blum, who also met with Hughes, confirmed that he had signed the report on May 3, 1971. But he insisted, "That is not the date it was released. It is the date it was approved."

Blum said he similarly had approved on Oct. 10 the findings of the Bellefontaine audit which has not been made public because of the auditor's policy.

However, a spokesman for the Kenton Times said the newspaper ran a story on May 1, 1971 reporting that the results of the school audit there had been announced. That was before the primary.

The newspaper quoted Ferguson on that date as saying: "Our audit shows, based on estimated receipts and expenditures for the rest of 1971, that the schools will have to suspend the education of their children between Nov. 1 and Nov. 19 for the rest of the year. The schools could reopen at the start of 1972."

Soprano Slates Appearance

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Soprano Beverly Sills will appear here as scheduled Nov. 20, despite her surgery last week for pelvic cancer, a spokesman for the San Francisco Opera says.

"She feels great," the spokesman said Tuesday. "She's been singing in the hospital and itching to get out." Rehearsals for "The Daughter of the Regiment" are scheduled to begin next week, the spokesman said.

Ferguson released the results of an audit in the Chippewa School District in Wayne County before the 30-day blackout and the system was given permission to close on Nov. 15, if a 5.9 mill levy fails.

The Twinsburg School District in Summit County and the Wellington Exempted Village School district in Lorain County also face school tax levy votes while awaiting the results of state audits.

Order Woman To Offer Prayer In Death Case

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — An East Cleveland judge has ordered Alice Siman, 32, to pray in church two hours a week for the next year for the repose of the soul of traffic victim Stephen Zawada.

That was one of Judge James DeVinne's conditions for suspending a $1,000 fine and a six-month jail sentence upon Miss Siman's conviction for vehicular homicide Tuesday.

Miss Siman also must pay $1,000 toward Zawada's funeral costs, sending the money to the man's widow at the rate of $25 a week.

Zawada was killed Oct. 12 when the car Miss Siman was driving jumped a curb in Garfield Heights and hit him.

governor and Democrat Thomas Ferguson for state auditor.

In a press conference, William Kelly, the coordinator of the political action committee of Ohio's pro-life groups, said the three candidates are being supported for their positive protective stands toward unborn children, the mentally retarded, the physically handicapped, the ill and the aged.

Kelly said the committee is working to find state pro-life candidates in order to support their candidacies with money and manpower. The state Right to Life Organization will work to defeat those political candidates who hold pro-abortion views, he said.

The committee is not taking sides in the race between Republican James Rhodes and incumbent Democrat John Gilligan for governor, Kelly said.

Neither candidate has completely defined his stance on abortion and other pro-life issues, Kelly said. However, Rhodes has "an intelligent, open, educated stand as it relates to abortion" and Gilligan has "done a lot for other pro-life groups," Kelly said.

Youth Injured In Accident

Seventeen-year-old Bruce A. Rogers, Route 2, was treated and released at Berger Hospital for knee injuries sustained in a two-car accident, 5:45 p.m. Tuesday.

Rogers was driving east on Route 22 when a car, driven by Kenneth W. Boyd, 60, 1235 S. Pickaway St., pulled from Mound Street, striking the Rogers vehicle.

Sheriff's Deputy James Fite did not issue a citation.

LE Schools Hold P-T Conferences

Logan Elm Schools were among the districts taking part in the county-wide parent teacher conference day on Oct. 28.

Logan Elm's Superintendent John Henn said that the conferences were useful in carrying out the objective of the school district and that is to assist each student to achieve his maximum growth as measured by established goals.

Henn said this goal was best accomplished when a close relationship is maintained between the school and the parents.

Preliminary reports of the conference day in the district indicate great success with a total of 808 conferences being held. McDowell Exchange School reported 210 conferences; Pickaway Elementary, 165; Laurelville, 154; Washington Elementary, 130; Saltcreek Elementary, 111; Logan Elm High School, 47.

Most teachers and parents expressed enthusiasm with the individual teacher-parent conferences. The conference brings the ideas of both the teacher and the parent into the light and with the focus of the two, a better understanding is sought.

PICCA Receives Quarterly Funds

The Pickaway County Community Action Organization will receive $23,274 in a federal fund grant for the months of October through December, according to Congressman William H. Harsha.

The money is part of $119,431 distributed to eight community action agencies in the sixth district by the Office of Economic Opportunity.

Nancy Morgan, PICCA chairman, reports the money will help continue present program administration and services, such as the outreach program, daycare centers, adult education and home health programs for the remainder of 1974.

Gasoline Tax Distributed

The city of Circleville and nine Pickaway County villages will receive a total of $12,327 in gasoline taxes distributed in the month of October, according to State Auditor Joseph T. Ferguson.

Circleville will receive $8,201; Ashville, $1,373; Commercial Point, $177; Darbyville, $56; Harrisburg, $38; New Holland, $556; Orient, $537; South Bloomfield, $465; Tarlton, $258; Williamsport, $666.

The gasoline excise tax receipts can be used only for street and roadway purposes.

Ali KOs Foreman, Regains Championship

KINSHASA, Zaire (AP) — "Ali, Ali, Ali."

The salute thundered from close to 50,000 African throats and echoed around the world today.

Muhammad Ali is back as the undisputed heavyweight champion of the world, knockout conqueror in 2:58 of the eighth round of young and strong George Foreman, who until this dark night was rated one of the most devastating punchers the game has ever seen.

Ali said he would do it — and he did. And he is a man who must be reckoned with although he is now 32 and well past his fighting prime. Friends say he would be wise now to retire in all his glory and arrogance.

"Now they'll have to pay me $20 million to fight," he boasted. They may, too. Waiting in the wings is the rugged Joe Frazier, former champion, who beat Ali in one slambang brawl and lost to him in another.

"Foreman fought a stupid fight," said Frazier, who sat at the ringside in the vast Stadium of the 20th of May to watch the spectacle in the early hours of the African morning.

"He should never have let Ali play him on the ropes as he did," said Frazier. "I have learned a lot. I want another shot at him. I'm ready when he is. I am sure I can win the next time."

Foreman, 25, a massive and sullen but pleasant man with fists that in five years of pro fighting have exploded 37 knockouts, insists that he also is waiting in line.

"The next time — and I hope there is a next time — I hope to fight a smarter fighter," he said. "I hope to follow (manager) Dick Sadler's instructions better."

The 220-pound Foreman sought to demolish Ali the way he had crushed 37 of his pro foes, most of them almost before they had finished tying on their gloves. But Ali beat him at his own game, and was convincing in doing it.

And now it is Frazier who appears to have the next crack in this game of musical chairs among three black American fighters — Ali, Frazier and Foreman. Their only potential threats on the horizon are Teofilo Stevenson, a Cuban giant whom Fidel Castro may not permit to leave home, and Duane Bobick, an American Olympian like Ali and Foreman who is now unbeaten as a pro.

But the next big match would have to be the "rubber" duel between Frazier and Ali.

As champion, he now is in his element. He has a stage. He can reel off his two-line poems.

"I told you he was no good. I showed you," Ali said afterward in the dressing room. "He's slow and awkward. I'm not sure he deserves to fight me again. He would have no chance."

Across the catcombs of the open-air soccer stadium, big George, never before beaten or knocked out, and his associates sat in thickening gloom.

"You can't badmouth a man who beats you," Foreman said solemnly, his voice hoarse and almost a whisper. "He is a true champion. He deserves everybody's respect. He is a credit to his family, his race and to boxing."

Foreman, more or less, agreed with Frazier and Ali that he fought a stupid fight. But he said:

"He won the fight, but I cannot admit he beat me. Nobody loses in a fight like this," for which each of the fighters got a record $5 million.

It was a good fight, two muscled men hammering away at each other as if they were swinging telephone poles. But Ali was the smarter and the better man, and from the fifth round on it became a matter of when Foreman's trunk-like legs would fold.

Ali taunted Foreman during the playing of both the American and Zaire national anthems, and he continued to spit insult at the champion in the fast-paced early rounds.

Ali met the in-boring Foreman with two quick shots to the head as they answered the bell. Foreman pursued him. Ali played the ropes, ducked Foreman's vicious swings and struck back periodically with hands as fast as the tongue of an adder.

In the second and third rounds, Foreman landed some good shots — powerful blasts that seemed to rock the fragile ring — but Ali blinked and kept hitting back.

In the second round, Foreman hit Ali with a crunching blow to the head, and Ali momentarily blinked. For a moment, it appeared to ringsiders that a scared look came into the challenger's eyes.

But by the fifth round, Ali's strategy of holding, lying on the ropes and letting Foreman flail away at a darting ghost began paying dividends. One could almost see the power drain from George's massive arms and the steel slip from his legs.

He became wobbly. His punches were like marshmallows. In the corner, Foreman's manager, Dick Sadler, and an aide, Archie Moore, looked concerned.

Then in the eighth, the inevitable happened. Already staggering and unsure of his footing and merely swinging at air, Foreman got caught by an Ali right as Ali slipped out of a clinch.

Foreman veered unsteadily. Ali, sensing the kill, added a left and followed it with a vicious right.

Foreman, seemingly dazed, went down and took the count of 10 from referee Zack Clayton before he could regain his feet.

"I didn't hear the count; I never listen to the count," Foreman said later. "I wasn't tired. Dick gave me a signal to stay down. Then he crossed his arms. Then he motioned for me to get up. I guess I was too slow."

The fight was one of the most bizarre in the annals of the game, staged at 4 a.m. local time to fit prime viewing periods in the United States, were most of the revenue came from.

It will take days, and perhaps weeks, to sort out the financial picture. But the fight may gross as much as $30 million, from which comes the $5 million each for Ali and Foreman — the largest purse ever.

The crowd, which assembled well before midnight and enjoyed a program of native dancers, was heavily pro-Ali. The people, held away from the ring by a 10-foot barbed wire fence and cordons of President Mobutu's soldiers, carried their celebration into the streets.

County Teams Gear For Big Games

Friday will be an important night for Pickaway County football teams as Teays Valley and Westfall try to better the .500 mark and Logan Elm takes on nearby-rival Amanda Clearcreek.

Teays Valley, preparing for the Shamrocks of Dublin, can go over the break-even mark in the league and season with a win.

The Vikes, who lost to Groveport in their first game, came back with a win against Circleville. But then came the Metro League and the Vikings lost to Hamilton Twp., Olentangy, and Franklin Heights on successive Fridays.

But the Vikes have rebounded by beating Marysville, West Jefferson, and Grandview. Their 3-3 league mark ties them with West Jefferson, Franklin Heights, and Olentangy for third place.

Momentum will be on both sides of the field as Dublin, with a 4-2 league record, has a chance to tie Hamilton Twp. for the loop crown. The Rangers are 5-1 but have to play West Jefferson.

It's been a strange year for the Vikings and the rest of the Metro League.

Hamilton Twp., which clinched the title two weeks ago, could have won it outright had it not been for the Shamrocks who socked them 14-12 last week.

Dublin was delegated to second place, suffering defeats by Olentangy and Marysville.

"Dublin looks like the best team in the league at this point," according to TV head coach Dick Kidwell, who has brought his team back from a bad early-season letdown.

"On film, they are very impressive," he said.

The Shamrocks, not highly-regarded as the season began, has turned into a fine offensive football team.

Their offense is loaded with a speedy backfield and one of the best touchdown machines in Central Ohio thanks to quarterback Townsend and end Bohanan. The latter has snared 10 touchdown passes this year.

Dublin also employs a 6-2 defense that could prove troublesome to the Viking offense. However, the TV coaches feel the Shamrocks are vulnerable to passes into the flat area.

And TV quarterback Chuck Glitt is just the individual to exploit the weakness. "We'll definitely let Chuck throw more this week to loosen up the defense," Kidwell said.

TV's offense, which has scored only 59 points so far, is starting to live up to earlier expectations, according to Kidwell who said their consistency was a key to last Friday's 14-0 win over Grandview.

The Vikings moved for 204 yards rushing and Glitt added 38 passing in the game. Ron Foreman, who "ran real well," became the first TV back to gain more than 100 yards in a game.

The TV defense, second in the league allowing only 45 points was superb as usual. Anchored by Bill Hurley, the Vikes surrendered only 42 yards rushing against Grandview and 82 passing.

TV will close out its season Nov. 8 by hosting Columbus Wehrle.

Westfall's Mustangs will play their final game of the year Friday when they host Paint Valley.

A win could do much for John Glanton's gridders, who are 4-4 on the year and suffered a 34-6 loss to SVC co-leader Piketon last week.

Piketon will square off with Adena Friday in a battle of unbeaten Scioto Valley Conference teams.

Piketon shut off the young Mustang offense by allowing only 150 total yards last Friday.

And they ran through the Mustang defense for 236 yards rushing and 376 total yards in upping their overall mark to 5-2-1.

The Mustangs lost to Adena in the third game of the season and first SVC clash Sept. 27, 34-0.

In the game, Adena rambled for 299 yards rushing, while holding Westfall to 97 yards on the ground and 11 passing.

Westfall has scored 122 points in its eight games, an average of 15 points a game, while giving up 208 points, a 26-point-per-game average.

The Mustangs have rushed for 1,425 yards and passed for 208 more, an average of 204 total yards. Opponents have hit for 1,508 yards on the ground and 533 passing for an average of 255 total yards per game.

Westfall has either lost 'em big or won 'em big.

In the opening game, the Mustangs crashed Berne Union 14-6, rolling up 235 yards offense. BU was held to minus two yards rushing in the game.

However, Madison Plains quickly humbled the Mustangs in the second game of the year with a 27-0 win that saw Westfall rush for only 11 yards and pass for seven.

Westfall got back into the win column with a 38-14 mash of Peebles rushing for 289 yards (the season high) and passing for 40.

Then came Adena.

Unio gave the Mustangs their first and only consecutive loss in a 35-8 contest. The Mustangs gained 161 yards in the game, but Unio hit for the highest total against WHS, 420.

The Mustangs then went on a two-game win streak, bumping Zane Trace and Huntington by identical 28-14 counts. Both were good games for the Mustang offense, as they rushed for nearly 290 yards in each game.

But then came the Piketon cruncher. Coming off of two close losses in the Mid State League, an improving Logan Elm football team is looking forward to the homecoming game with Amanda-Clearcreek Friday.

The Aces are young and not exceptionally big. Although a winner of only one game, they have proven to be a bunch of scrappers.

The Braves are in real good shape physically and had a good week of practice according to Perry Griffith, head coach.

"We have things coming around the way they should," Griffith says of the team. The Braves have been outscored 130 to 81 this year in the eight games played and outgained 1,714 yards to 1,345. But they have never been out-classed in any of their games. The two biggest losses, pointwise, were to Canal Winchester, 21-0, and Fairfield Union, 26-6.

Griffith singled out the defensive play of Scott Allen and Dave Dean in last week's game against Liberty Union, and credited two key passes from Bob Sargent to Greg Justus with setting up the touchdown.

Piketon Edges Westfall Girls

Piketon handed the Westfall girls' volleyball team a 2-1 defeat Tuesday night.

Piketon won the first game 16-14, dropped the second 15-8, but came back in the clincher with a narrow 15-13 victory.

High scorer for the Mustangs was Maria Silva with 15 points. Becky Conley had nine, Elaine Steinhauer had eight, Michele Conley had four, and Karen Reid and JoEllen Hughes had three each.

The girls will play at Circleville Thursday at 4:30 p.m.

Southmen To Face Hawaiians

By The Associated Press

The Memphis Southmen, bidding to clinch at least a tie for a division title, face the revived Hawaiians tonight as the World Football League moves into its 18th week.

The Southmen lead the Central Division with a 14-3 record — tops in the entire league. They lead Birmingham by two games with three to play in the regular campaign.

The Southmen were rolling along with an 11-game winning streak until they were upset by Portland last week. Memphis relies on a strong ground game — J.J. Jennings, John Harvey and Willie Spencer are all among the WFL's top ten rushers — and quarterback John Huarte passes just enough to keep the defense honest.

The Hawaiians, 7-10, have found new life with the acquisition of quarterback Randy Johnson. Johnson's passing and the catching of Tim Delaney, the WFL's top receiver, helped the club equal the league's single-game scoring record last week with a 60-17 rout of Chicago.

Birmingham hosts Florida, Southern California is at Charlotte and Chicago is at Philadelphia in tonight's other games.

Portland visits Shreveport in the Thursday night game.

Sipe May Get Nod By Skorich

CLEVELAND (AP) — In this season of the quarterback switch Cleveland Coach Nick Skorich is contemplating one for the Browns. The decision should be made today.

Backup quarterback Brian Sipe entered the Browns football game Sunday in the final period and led the two touchdown drives that overturned a 12-point deficit, giving Cleveland a 23-21 victory over the Denver Broncos.

Sipe, a 1972 13th round draft choice out of San Diego State, spent his first two years on the Browns' back squad and moved into the No. 2 spot this season, after veteran Don Horn was released.

Mike Phipps, who has been the No. 1 signal caller since 1972, managed only eight completions in 25 attempts Sunday, which prompted Coach Nick Skorich to remove him from the game.

Skorich said that who will start in this week's game against the San Diego Chargers is under "pretty thorough evaluation" and that a decision would be made today.

"We're not losing faith in Mike," Skorich said. "He is our quarterback. He has the size, the arm — equipment to be a very good one."

Grid Picker Backs Ohio State

NEW YORK (AP) — Ohio State and Oklahoma have been offensive to their 13 football opponents this season and more of the same may be in store this weekend.

"We made all 10 of our offensive goals," Ohio State's Woody Hayes said following last week's 55-7 rout of Northwestern. "That's the only time we've ever done that. And our consistency went from 73 to 88 per cent."

This week's beleaguered defense belongs to Illinois ... which will absorb a 35-14 licking.

Meanwhile, Oklahoma's Barry Switzer says the Sooners are "the best college football team I've ever been around. And we'll be close to this team again offensively next year."

Iowa State gave Oklahoma its closest call in Big Eight play last season, losing by "only" 34-17. This year, 42-7 has a better ring to it.

Last week's score was 49 right, 17 wrong for a .742 percentage. One of the four Upset Specials — Georgia Tech over Tulane — came through while Princeton over Penn missed by a couple of points. The season tally shows 328 right, 125 wrong and 12 ties for .724.

Upset Special of the Week ... Florida 17, Auburn 14: Tigers' defense is something else, except against the Wishbone.

Second Upset Special ... Maryland 23, Penn State 21: Maryland's defense isn't the best cure for offensive blahs.

Third Upset Special ... Washington 24, UCLA 20: Bruins not the same without John Sciarra.

Michigan 48, Indiana 9: Ohio State beat Indiana 49-9 and Michigan's ranked lower in The Associated Press poll.

Alabama 28, Mississippi State 7: The Bear just loves to give his former assistants their comeuppance.

Southern California 34, California 21: Trojans smell the roses along the way ... with Anthony, not Mac, Davis.

Baggett Wins Praise At Quarterback

CHICAGO (AP)—When it comes to rating quarterbacks in the Big Ten, don't leave out Charlie Baggett of Michigan State.

Coach Denny Stolz of Michigan State Tuesday told the Chicago Football Writers in a telephone interview "I don't think there's a better offensive player in the Big Ten than Charlie Baggett."

San Diego Nips St. Louis, 110-109

by BOB GREENE

AP Sports Writer

Marvin Barnes couldn't do it all Tuesday night ... but he tried.

The rookie center pumped in 48 points and grabbed 30 rebounds, but his Spirits of St. Louis were nipped by the San Diego Conquistadors 110-109 in an American Basketball Association game.

In the only other ABA contest of the night, the Denver Nuggets stopped the New York Nets 126-115.

In the National Basketball Association, Los Angeles edged Portland 105-102, Washington crushed Chicago 96-80, Boston swamped Cleveland 107-92 and Golden State demolished Buffalo 130-101.

"I've always thought the guy was a heck of a basketball player," San Diego Coach Alex Groza said about Barnes. "He has tremendous ability, he jumps well, he runs well, he shoots great."

The former Providence College All-American drilled in 21 of 36 shots from the field, ripped off 24 defensive rebounds and blocked two shots.

Scoring from near and far, Barnes shoved the Spirits to a 104-94 lead with less than five minutes remaining in the game. But San Diego narrowed the gap and Caldwell Jones' jump shot with 30 seconds showing on the clock gave the Conquistadors the victory.

Both Barnes' scoring total and rebound figure were ABA highs for the young season.

Elvin Hayes and Phil Chenier collaborated for 47 points to pace the undefeated Washington Capitals to their sixth consecutive triumph. Chenier finished with 27 points while Hayes scored 20, grabbed 12 caroms, made two steals and blocked three shots.

High for Chicago was Chet Walker with 17.

The Boston Celtics raced away from a 60-59 deficit midway through the third period to drop the Cavaliers in the first basketball game to be played in the new Cleveland Coliseum. Jo Jo White's 24 points and John Havlicek's 23 paced the Celts while Bobby Smith was high for Cleveland with 20.

Rick Barry led a third-quarter attack as the Golden State Warriors won their third straight game. Barry finished with 30 points, high for the winner, while Buffalo's Bob McAdoo tallied 35.

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophes, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

Savings Associations Seek Tax Break On Savings Interest

Equitable Federal Savings and Loan and Scioto Building and Loan are participating in a drive to collect signatures on petitions urging Congress to give savers a tax break on their savings interest.

Nelson Stevens, of Equitable Federal, said the petitions urge Congress to approve a bill providing tax-free earnings on savings accounts of up to $500 ($1,000 on a joint return). The bill, known as H.R. 16994, has already been approved by the Ways and Means Committee of the House of Representatives. It covers savings interests earned on accounts at all financial institutions, including savings and loan associations, commercial banks and credit unions.

"This would give a long-needed tax break to lower and middle-income people hardest hit by inflation," Stevens said.

"We urge non-customers as well as customers to sign the petitions, which are available at the institution's offices," he continued.

Stevens said, "The thrift incentive provided by passage of this bill would help dampen inflation because as people save more, they would spend and borrow less." He also pointed out that there would be long-range benefits to such a program: more savings capital would be available to invest to increase the nation's productivity which would dampen inflation; more funds through increased savings deposits at thrift institutions would be available to those people who want to buy or build homes. This would provide an immediate relief to the hard-pressed housing industry which gets most of its new mortgage funds from savings accounts.

Stevens noted that for years, tax laws have provided tax advantages to buyers of stocks and municipal bonds but not to the small saver.

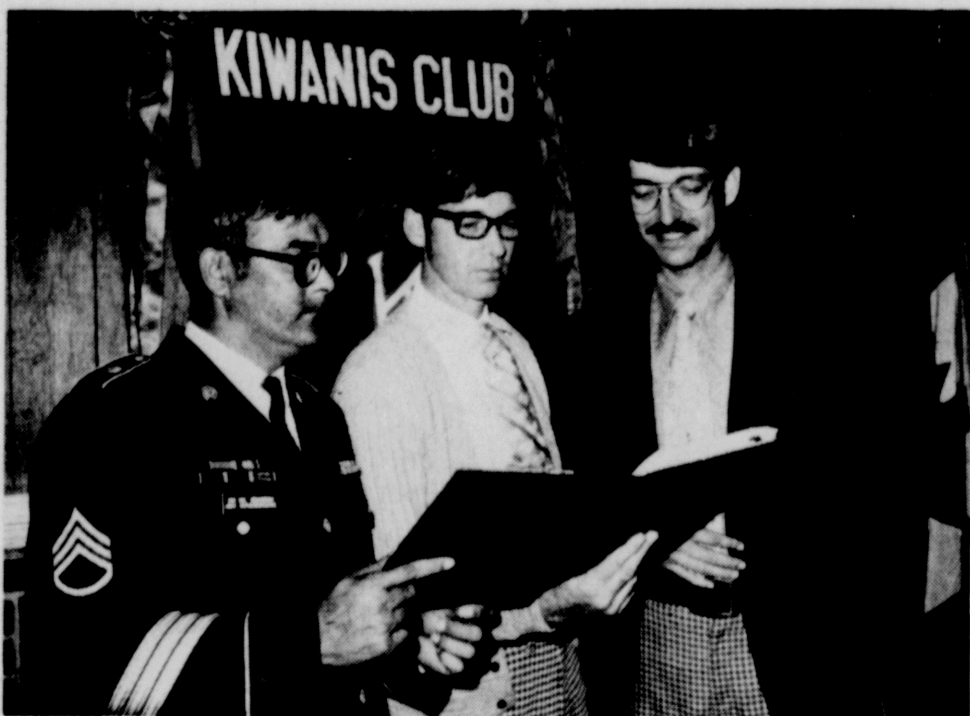

Stevens said, "The apparent loss to the Treasury in tax revenues would be more than offset by new tax revenues generated from the housing sectors and other businesses benefiting from more savings capital."

The drive to circulate the petitions is being sponsored by Ohio Savings and Loan League and by the United States League of Savings Associations.
